Vote against constitutional amendment No. 5. Too much of an experiment and risk to the taxpayers.

The morality of politics has advanced and some would-be leaders are going to find it out next Tuesday, too.

Constitutional amendment No. 3 will help make representative government responsible to the people. Vote for it.

Everybody regrets Judge J. W. Smith's intention of moving to Oklahoma. He is a most worthy gentleman, and we like to keep all such.

The St. Louis Mirror declares that Folk has won the Senatorial race and Stone's friends better urge him to get out of the running and thus save his humiliation.

Archbishop Ireland declares that the profoundly religious man, no difference whether he is Protestant or Catholic, with the love of his fellowman and his country's welfare in his heart, must Perforce be a better man for public office than the man void of religion. America needs more religion "to preserve the liberty we now love."

How's this for a campaign lie? It's the latest. The enemies of Folk are circulating the report over the State that the Governor has appointed 15 negroes for election judges in St. Louis. One would be a great dummy to believe such a thing. The Governor has no more to do with appointing election judges than has Teddy Roosevelt, or somebody else where he has no business.

John S. Faddis will have a sale Friday, Oct. 30, preparatory to moving to Texas about 30 miles from Hereford. John recently traded his 1/4 section here for 480 acres there, putting in his at $65 and taking that $20 per acre.
